

When first approached about participating in the Bone Health Study, I was really excited to be a part of the scientific study to help other girls like myself and help make an advancement in the medical field. As the study progressed, I developed a relationship with the team looking forward to what was going on in their lives outside of the hospital. It became important to me to make sure I did every injection and took the supplements on time everyday for my “new” friends. At the end of the study, I am sad to have to say good-bye to the relationships I have built over the past year.
